"I consider it a privilege to have been an Erasmus+ scholar at the University of Latvia as part of the master's program in European Studies. It was with an amalgam of enthusiasm and trepidation that I embarked on my journey, as it so happens, and was only left with the former when I reached Latvia. The campuses of Latvijas Universitāte dotting the capital city of Riga are full of life and warmth, a definite contrast to the Baltic winters, and owing to the interdisciplinary nature of the program and a wide range of English-taught modules, I could take up courses from a number of the Facultates. I easily found my way into the diverse and international learning community through many immersion activities that the dynamic Erasmus Student Network organized. I found a mentor in almost every professor I studied with, especially Prof. Muravska who guided my master's thesis. Despite the university's overt internationality, the Latvian culture, heritage, and identity shines through its academic culture, allowing students to discover the country, its people, language, and history along with its setting within Europe and the EU. What made my Erasmus experience one that counts are the freedom and opportunities that the university provides; freedom to independently explore and learn as well as opportunities to engage and network with fellow students and professors."
